

A close-up, artistic photograph of a stack of five pancakes. The pancakes are golden-brown with dark, caramelized edges. They are topped with several whole pecans. A stream of golden syrup is being poured from a teal-colored ceramic pitcher with a white interior, drizzling over the top pancake and cascading down the sides. The stack sits on a rustic wooden board. Scattered pecans are visible on the board and the dark, textured surface in the foreground. The background is dark and out of focus.

Skyler Burt

Skyler Burt is an editorial and commercial food photographer, blogger, and YouTuber hailing from Los Angeles. Most of the time you can find him offering up tasty food photography tips and tricks on his YouTube channel, We Eat Together.

Photography and food has been his two main passion for most of his life. During an 8 year stint as a lecturer in advanced studio lighting and food photography, his love for education grew. However, he traded in his academic job, to go full time freelance and he works closely with chefs, resorts, magazines and advertisement agencies around the world.

He created his blog and YouTube channel with the goal to help people deepen their passion for food photography and improve their skills along the way. Now WeEatTogether has many thousands of viewers and is growing everyday.
